Module Leader: Prof. David Smith

Feedback comments:

This refers to the continuous assessment as there is no exam for this course.

This course involves a large number of markers. Within the constraints of the limited data I reviewed the marks and came to the conclusion that there was no evidence of significant variations between markers which could have adversely affected the reliability of the results. In general the course ran very smoothly. As always the marks from this lab course are much less widely spread than from more standard courses. We put considerable effort into trying to broaden the spread of marks and based upon my experience of the students I am convinced that no one deserved to fail and in fact performance was generally very good as reflected in the marks.
